

trend: '14
vol. I no. 5

brentwood

passion for patina

Worn, rubbed, aged and polished. A delicate decay of color and object that have traveled through time arriving in the here and now to be displayed and shown-off with a beauty earned. Every shade of grey, chipped drips, scrubbed swaths and threadbare texture of once bold hues are burnished into classic and contemporary themes. Old tales with new stories yet to be written.

